WHAT I DO:

I build and scale marketing engines that work. Whether it's launching a 700-page website rebuild, managing 110K-partner networks, or implementing AI-powered marketing automation, I focus on removing obstacles, coaching teams, and finding quick wins that increase both leads and operational efficiency.

My approach combines technical depth (Wordpress, Next.js, Salesforce, HubSpot, marketing automation) with strategic thinking (go-to-market planning, channel development, stakeholder communication). I'm known for translating complex technical concepts into compelling narratives that drive action.
